WORLD TOUR

RUDI'S ROOS FALTER

Humiliation in Sydney, ridicule in Zagreb, success in Leicester and inspiration in Jakarta - that, in a capsule, is the balance of the Socceroos' much publicised 1980 domestic and overseas jaunt which stretched from Adelaide to Birmingham.

The Socceroos played 18 games in 1980 for a win-draw-loss record of 3-6-9.

They began the year disastrously, losing 0-4 to the masterly Czechs in Canberra.

A week later Czechoslavakia demolished the Socceroos 5-0 in Sydney amid a fusillade of dazzling goals - all five in the second half.

The world tour in November began sensationally when big, bustling Gary Cole cut through Greece's defence in Athens for quite a superb goal.

The rest of the tour was a shambles, but when the Socceroos were not waiting at airports or flying to obscure destinations they managed some reasonable results.

Their 2-1 win over Leicester City was full of merit while their inspiring 1-1 draw with Indonesia in Jakarta in front of 63,000 fans was a genuine indicator of what they could expect in the World Cup qualifying rounds.

But in between all this came a disastrous result against Dinamo Zagreb which ridiculed the Socceroos 4-0 on a snow covered pitch.

Slickers triumph but . . .

IT WAS SO CLOSE!

The race for the fourth PSL crown had begun in a gallop; Heidelberg streaked away amid a fusillade of Gary Cole goals, but when the dust settled the gleaming PSL Shield was reflecting the jubilant images of the Sydney City Slickers.

Despite their slender one point advantage, the Slickers were clearly the most skilful, aggressive and consistent team.

There were moments when they stuttered, but in the end they simply had too much ammunition.

But while the Slickers did what everyone expected them to do, their former coach Gerry Chaldi did something no-one expected him to do. He took West Adelaide, the 1978 champions, into the relegation zone and kept them there for the final seven weeks and in the process almost bankrupted the club with his excessive spending.

However, it wasn't Sydney City or West Adelaide or Gerry Chaldi who grabbed the early headlines. It was Gary Cole, this extraordinary, powerful central striker who began the season as if he would score 40 goals, but eventually had to settle for 21 - three more than Mark Jankovics' 1979 season record.

It was very much a goalscorers' year. When Cole couldn't find the gaps to score, his striking partner Jamie Paton, a sort of diluted version of Kevin Keegan, did - 15 times. And for all their troubles with injury and loss of form, Marconi pair Mark Jankovics (16) and Eddie Krncevic (13) did remarkably well. Krncevic's total included a record four goals against Blacktown, while Jankovics struck three in the same match.

With such a plethora of goals, it wasn't surprising that some huge wins were recorded. But one of those wins staggered the PSL. Struggling Brisbane City's 7-0 win over title contender Heidelberg was inexplicable and remains so. As then coach Len McKendry said at the time: "It was one of those freak results that will never happen again."

Equally unbelievable was Blacktown's 5-1 demolition of Marconi to reverse a first round 0-9 defeat - a stunning 13 goal improvement.

"It's mine," says Sydney City goal-keeper Tony Pezzano. West Adelaide's Graham Norris doesn't doubt it.

It was not a happy year for coaches. Brisbane City relieved Nereo Saftich early in the season, first suspending him and then sacking him. West Adelaide, of course, asked the highly credentialled Gerry Chaldi if he might consider returning to Sydney, but Footscray's Rocco Illie, suffered the ultimate indignity - being removed from his post at half time of a league match.

There was never any chance of John Margaritis leaving South Melbourne, rock bottom in 1979. He not only lifted them out of the relegation zone but he very nearly guided them to the PSL crown.

It was a stunning transformation which was underlined with two extraordinary victories over Marconi late in the season. First came a smashing 4-1 win over the defending PSL champion in Sydney and then a spectacular 4-3 win after the Gunners trailed 0-3 in a Top Four Championship elimination final.

South Melbourne's George Campbell (16) can't control his jubilation as he leaps into the arms of obliging Billy Rogers after scoring against Heidelberg, while an equally delighted Bertie Lutton moves in.

South Melbourne kept the heat on both Sydney City and Heidelberg during the final dramatic weeks and at one stage it appeared a triple dead heat for first place was possible.

Both Heidelberg and Sydney City "choked" with one week of the season left, while South Melbourne, unbeaten in their final seven matches, routed Marconi in that Sydney match.

The Slickers fell to a stunning John Nyskohus volley against a superb Adelaide City in Adelaide while Heidelberg stumbled 1-3 to Newcastle.

But the Slickers, with a one point lead before the final match of the season against St. George, still held that advantage at 4.46 pm.

Not only did they help crush the Saints 4-1, but the men who got the goals - Ken Boden and Mark Trenter - figured in a strange transfer deal at the end of the previous season.

Boden went from Newcastle to Sydney City for $20,000 while Trenter moved from Sydney City to Newcastle.

But before they exchanged clubs both players struck hat-tricks on the last day of the 1979 season.

Now, exactly a season later, here they were together with Sydney City, each scoring two goals and bringing the PSL Shield back to Bondi.

PHILIPS CUP

IT'S MARCONI'S CUP

At last the cream had come to the top - Marconi won the Cup it had been cruelly denied four years earlier in Brisbane.

Marconi's 3-0 destruction of Heidelberg in the replayed final in Sydney was adequate compensation for its penalty shoot-out loss in the 1977 Final against Brisbane City.

Not that Les Scheinflug's men didn't have a few traumas on the way to this coveted soccer crown.

Just 11 days earlier in Melbourne, it survived a battering from Heidelberg in the Final.

However, Marconi eventually won it conclusively.

Aggressive, irritated and annoyed, it led after 17 minutes with a fiercely struck Gary Byrne penalty. The Cup's highest scorer Eddie Krncevic added a second in the sixty-fourth minute and just three minutes from the end Peter Sharne headed the third goal.

TOP FOUR

COLE WINS IT!

Heidelberg, whose biggest enemy was perhaps its own supreme confidence, finally had something to show for four years of consistency.

It lifted the Top Four Championship - its first PSL success - with considerable more ease than even goal hero Gary Cole could have imagined.

Sydney City had one of those exasperating days when you turn on the ignition and find the battery is flat.

It was a complete performance from Heidelberg and from Cole who notched his fourth hat-trick of the year and set up Jamie Paton near the end to drive in the wedge which clearly separated these sides.

POSITION LAST SEASON: Competed in NSW State League
COACHES: Bruce Stowell (1977), Kaz Kulak (1977), Tom Anderson (1978), George Gibson (1978), Joe Marston (1978, 79), John Xipolitas (1979), Tommy Docherty (1981)

CAN Tommy Docherty, one of the most venerated, yet amongst the most vilified coaches in England during the past decade, transform ailing Sydney Olympic, still showing the bruises of the 1979 relegation wreckage?

Some say he will not be able to, but given the man's voracious appetite for success, it seems most likely that he will.

But it will not be a quick, smooth transformation. It will take time for both coach and team to acclimatise to their new environment.

WOLLONGONG WOLVES

P.O. Box 1706, WOLLONGONG, NSW 2500: (042) 29 1966
Ground: Wollongong Showgrounds

PRESIDENT: Laurie Kelly
SECRETARY: Richard Drake
CLUB COLOURS: Red and white
POSITION LAST SEASON: Did not compete
COACH: Ken Morton

WITH such a wealth of talent on the south coast of NSW, Wollongong must surely stamp its indelible mark on the Philips League. The area has always been a hotbed for soccer talent and is certain to unearth some fine young players. The Wolves have also recruited wisely and secured New Zealand internationals Clive Campbell and Bill De Graff. The south coast - a string of townships, hamlets and villages - has a population of 260,000 of which 40 per cent are migrants or children of migrants. The club, itself, is run by chairman Laurie Kelly, the Speaker in the NSW parliament, while secretary Richard Drake, is the city's librarian.

PRESTON RAMS

211 Smith Street, FITZROY, VIC 3065: (03) 469 4842
Ground: B.T. Connor Reserve

PRESIDENT: John Brian
SECRETARY: Peter Mouka
CLUB COLOURS: Red, black and gold
POSITION LAST SEASON: Competed in Victorian State League
COACH: Brian Edgely

PRESTON Rams entered the PSL amid gloomy predictions that they would have to fight to survive their first year in the big time. But anyone who saw the Rams push Adelaide City in an epic five-goal thriller in a first round Philips Cup match in 1979, will expect a great deal from last year's Victorian State League champions. George McMillan, the man who threatened the eventual Cup winner in that match, should also be among the most consistent strikers. A sort of watered down version of Dixie Deans, he can be a devastating player on the break. Preston is riddled with fine players and it will indeed be surprising if they do not lock horns with some of the PSL's finest sides.

ADELAIDE CITY GIANTS

RECORD WIN: 10-3 v Mooroolbark, 1977
RECORD LOSS: 1-6 v Sydney City, 1977
HIGHEST AGGREGATE SCORER: John Nyskohus, 35, 1977-80
MOST APPEARANCES: John Nyskohus, 100
BEST LEAGUE POSITION: Fourth, 1977
POSITION LAST SEASON: Fifth
COACHES: Edmund Kreft (1977, 78), Les Scheinflug (1978), Rale Rasic (1979, 80), Bob D'Ottavi (1981)

WITH an ounce of luck and more pronounced firing power at critical stages, it may well have been Adelaide City's year in 1980 under the tactical cunning of Rale Rasic. The Giants' well-drilled backlines made their defences almost impregnable, but their finishing power was meek and subsequently kept them in fifth place and prompted the surrender of the Philips Cup. The Giants were given a temporary boost through the visit of Norwich City's $2.5 million striking sensation Justin Fashanu.

IF there was one consolation for the Blacktown Demons after their first season in the PSL, it was defying their harshest critics and avoiding the indignity of relegation. The Demons opened the year stylishly, but their crash was swift. However, the tide began to turn slowly with a series of spirited performances, culminating in an outstanding 5-1 win over Philips Cup winner Marconi. The arrival of Rale Rasic, a pragmatist with a sharp tactical mind, will reinforce Blacktown's position in the PSL in 1981.

AFTER two successive Philips Cups and a Top Four Championship final berth in its first three seasons, Brisbane City slumped dramatically in 1980 and spent much of the season trying to steer clear of relegation-destined St. George and troubled West Adelaide. The prime cause of the Gladiators' downfall was the poor form of key players, which must have frustrated coach George Potter. But when they clicked, the Gladiators were capable of destroying the best teams in the league. They proved that with a startling 7-0 win over eventual Top Four champion Heidelberg. The Gladiators' impoverished days must now surely be over.

BRISBANE Lions defied the sceptics and achieved their equal best standing in the PSL, finishing sixth after it had earlier appeared they would grab a top four berth. Few took notice early in the season when Lions embedded their claws in the upper section of the league. Lions were always a frustrating obstacle to those who confronted them. They claimed several prize scalps, including the eventual PSL champion Sydney City. Lions also clawed the Slickers in a Philips Cup quarter final, but fell to Marconi in a semi-final.

MONEY doesn't buy championships and the Canberra Arrows painfully learnt that lesson. All the Arrows had to show for a massive $120,000 worth of investments was an alarming deficit and bewilderment at finishing just above the relegation zone. The Arrows made a smooth start but deficiencies in key defensive and midfield positions led to their capitulation. However, when dual strikers Sebastian Giampaolo and Walter Valeri hit top form, few sides in the PSL could stifle them.

TRAGICALLY, Footscray, undoubtedly one of the most talented sides in the PSL, had to struggle dourly to survive. Internal havoc, the loss of key players and lack of discipline when it counted the most, resulted in another lack lustre year, despite an enterprising start. But it could have easily been so different. The Eagles underlined their domination of the early rounds with a thumping 3-0 win over South Melbourne followed by a 2-0 win over West Adelaide. But then came a spineless period in which the Eagles failed to win for nine weeks.

POSITION LAST SEASON: Second
COACHES: Jim Adam (1977), Tony Boggi (1977, 79), Pat Bannon (1980), Jim Rooney (1980), Len McKendry (1980), Manny Poulakakis (1979, 81)

AFTER streaking away with an unbeaten eight-weeks run, lined with goals from prolific striker Gary Cole, Heidelberg must have been disappointed with 1980. The Warriors' solitary consolation was a conclusive 4-0 win over Sydney City in the Top Four Championship grand final. But they should have done so much better. The elusive maiden PSL championship slipped out of their grasp in the final traumatic weeks and to top it off, they lost the Philips Cup in a replayed final after running all over Marconi in the final.

THEY SAID IT

Heidelberg coach LEN McKENDRY, after 0-7 loss to Brisbane City: "It was one of those things which hasn't happened until now, it is a miracle it happened today and it is unlikely it will happen again."

GARY COLE on his partnership with Jamie Paton: "We regard ourselves as the best striking pair in the country."

LEICHHARDT flirted briefly with relegation but in the end settled nicely on eighth spot as it had done in its first PSL season in 1979. The Strikers' performances were a mixture of awfully good and just plain terrible. They were at their worse when they confronted Heidelberg. The Warriors thumped the Strikers 5-0 in Sydney and mauled them 5-1 in Melbourne. But the Strikers were also a very capable side. They crushed doomed West Adelaide 4-0 late in the season - their biggest win in the PSL.

DESPITE its Philips Cup triumph, 1980 was a depressing season for Marconi. It surrendered the PSL Shield it had won so elegantly the year before and punctuated some very fine wins with some equally appalling losses. To underline Marconi's inconsistent year, the Leopards thrashed Blacktown 9-0 for a record PSL win, but in the second round Blacktown reversed the result 5-1 - Marconi's biggest ever PSL defeat. The Leopards also had internal problems. Coach Les Scheinflug resigned late in the season, but not before he willed his team to a 3-0 win over Heidelberg in a replayed Philips Cup final.

FOR the second successive year, the Newcastle KB Raiders finished in sixth spot just a whisker behind the Adelaide City Giants. But it could have been so different if brilliant striker Ken Boden had remained. While the Raiders laboured for their goals, Boden scored 13 with consummate ease for the Sydney City Slickers. But even without Boden, the Raiders, under the tactical expertise of coach Alan Vest recorded some impressive wins. Not the least of which were two 3-1 wins over the Giants.

RELENTLESSLY wearing down their opponents, the Sydney City Slickers won the 1980 PSL crown, three years after they had become the first team to achieve that milestone. But the Slickers had a minor trauma along the way, losing 0-1 to the Adelaide City Giants just a week before the end of the season. But the Slickers completed the fourth PSL season in a flourish, dissecting doomed St. George 4-1 to finish a point ahead of Heidelberg. Much of their success was due to $20,000 striker Ken Boden. And for 1981, the Slickers have spent $44,000 on Adelaide pair John Kosmina and Agenor Muniz.

HAVING extricated themselves from the jaws of relegation in 1979, the South Melbourne Gunners scaled the PSL table, finishing just two points behind the eventual champions the Sydney City Slickers. Indeed, if it were not for an uncharacteristic 0-3 loss to Footscray, which snapped a four-match winning streak, the Gunners may well have claimed their first PSL trophy. John Margaritis' Gunners had one of those seasons in which they steadily accumulated points without grabbing too many headlines. But all that changed when it spectacularly crushed the defending champion Marconi 4-1

THE warning signs were there early, but St. George failed to heed them and was finally crushed into relegation pulp. The once mighty Saints rarely looked as if they would survive, although they overcame similar obstacles in 1979. But this time there was no Phil O'Connor or Robert and John O'Shea. Their dependence on State League players ultimately led to their downfall. After four PSL seasons, the Saints' only notable achievement was that courageous 2-3 loss to the Giants in the 1979 Philips Cup final.

WEST Adelaide avoided a calamity by retaining its PSL status despite a disasterous season in which it plummetted to the foot of the table. It was the Hawk's worst ever PSL performance and predominately instigated by deposed coach Gerry Chaldi's hasty pruning of experience. Despite retaining the nucleus of the 1978 PSL championship team, the Hawks' teamwork, tactics and discipline were astray, particularly away from home where they managed only three points for the entire season. Now under the guidance of Billy Birch, the Hawks have assembled an impressive contingent which includes midfield dynamo Peter Boyle.

COLES' RECORD

3, 3, 3, 3: Dial a Champ

At the end of a whirlwind goal scoring season, only one record eluded Gary Cole, this big, bustling Heidelberg striker who spent most of 1980 cutting through defences like a scythe to score a record 21 PSL goals.

But given the man's habit of breaking records, it seems only a matter of time before he can claim the most-goals-in-a-game record, which stands at four.

That distinction is shared between Dixie Deans, once of Glasgow Celtic and Adelaide City, and Marconi's lithe striker Eddie Krncevic.

But Cole came awfully close to at least equalling that record. On March 16 he struck three first half goals against West Adelaide and during the following month he again scored three goals in back-to-back matches against Leichhardt and Blacktown. That's three hat-tricks in five matches.

And just to top it off, he grabbed another three goals against Sydney City in the Top Four Championship grand final in October.

Not bad for someone, who although having dominated the scoring in the first three seasons of the PSL, had not previously landed a hat-trick.

There was, of course, that extraordinary hat-trick for Victoria in the 4-0 routing of AEK Athens in 1979.

At the end of 1980, Cole, whose scoring statistics resembled a telephone number, remained the league's most prolific scorer over the four seasons with 53 - six more than Mark Jankovics.

THE SWEAT MERCHANTS

Take one strong-willed, intelligent man, add a talent for football and lace it with the ability to organise, select, reject, buy and sell other men. Throw in a necessary gift for psychology, psychiatry and leadership - and you have a football manager.

Football managers are the sweat merchants, the Svengalis of modern football. They take the cream of a nation's players and weld them into a winning team . . . or accept the frightening responsibility of failure on their shoulders alone.

When he has finished coaxing and cajoling his players, and has worked them up to key fitness and co-ordination levels as well as total understanding as a unit, he allows them to wash away the sweat under a shower . . . and then he goes away to sweat on his own.

No matter what he does or says, the manager is helpless, a true victim of his own doctrines, at the end of the day.

WORLD YOUTH CUP

THE WORLD DOWN UNDER

Just what can we expect from our humble kids when they line up against the teenage superstars of Europe and South America in the Coca Cola World Youth Cup in October?

Well, unless another Diego Maradona or Ramon Diaz (they can't play because they're over the age limit) emerge, Australia should do a great deal better than the cynics have predicted.

Yes, they may even grab a quarter final berth despite the presence of Europe's big three - England, Poland and Italy. But after than ... well, who knows.

The tournament, itself, will kick off on October 3 with the 16 teams split into four groups. Matches will be played in all PSL centres except Wollongong with the Final in Sydney on October 18.

But what of 1980? Certainly it was a satisfying year. The Youth Socceroos won the Oceania Cup in March, beating Tahiti 4-2 in the Final.

In December, they returned to the Pacific, but lost both captain Ian Hunter with a broken leg, and the Oceania tournament final 0-2 to New Zealand. The Socceroos then skipped over to Israel, where although their impotent attack let them down, they still managed to secure a major scalp - a 0-0 draw with Sweden, the eventual winner of the Israel Winter Youth Tournament.

ESPAÑA 82

Adelaide's Sea Air Travel — a fully accredited travel agency sponsoring soccer — is now organising group bookings to the biggest feast of soccer the world has yet seen.

Sea Air Travel are specialists in World Cup tours, having organised successful trips to Argentina in 1978.

Manager Tom Tigani has been to Spain and Europe where he personally arranged travel, accommodation and ticket arrangements.

Departures begin from July 13, 1982, flying Alitalia. Package includes accommodation, transfers, insurance and tickets to all matches (including the final). Prices start from:

$980 (Tourist class accommodation)
$1,500 (First class accommodation)
$2,800 (Deluxe)

Does not include airfares*

Prices as at 4/3/81 however are subject to change*
